Research conducted into intra-city transportation industry especially within the Kumasi Metropolis reveals that the lack of identity, proper organization and supervision by management make it easier for criminal activities to thrive.

Passengers, drivers and commercial car owners interviewed in our research embraced the idea of a commercial car management service that would also coordinate the activities of their drivers by keeping telephone lines and an office that customers could contact to require for transportation services and information.

As the business is new in the market and has no record, there is management team composed of four (4) people with Human Resource personnel, Marketing Officers and Accounting management. Two management of experience in managing commercial vehicles.
In doing critical analysis of the business, we projected that,

The company will earn profit in the first year. Revenue generates within the years – will be used to purchase more cars. Upon our projection the business will grow at the rate of 50% in the second and the third year. The intention to expend the operations nationwide after three years and the income from the operations will be used to acquired new vehicles for other institutions, like University of Ghana and the community as well.

Therefore the start-up capital will be $100,000 equivalent to GHC150,000, which each member will contribute GHC37,500 as capital.
